

TDM - How To use the content log

Introduction

TDM Digital Signage software keeps track of all changes made within TDM. It logs exactly what was changed, added or removed, by who and when. With Filter you can track changes made by specific users or to specific content. The Content Log is available through: Administration -> Content Log

This guide explains the options regarding the content log.

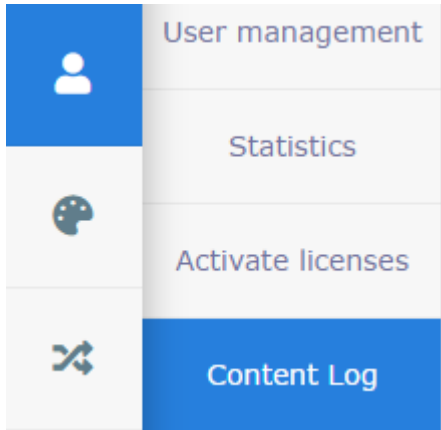

Requirements

If you want to use the content log you need to meet the following requirements:

- Have administrator access to the TDM designer

How To use the content log

1. Please login to the designer with an administrator account: <https://designer.tdmsignage.com>
2. Please select: Administration > Content Log

3. The page which will be opened is the default overview of the content log, from here there are a few possibilities:
 - You can filter on a specific user, this will display the changes made by this specific user.
 - You can filter on a specific name for your content, this will display the changes made for all content which includes the name of your filter.
 - You can filter on a specific timeframe, this will display the changes made for this specific timeframe.
 - You can filter on specific content types, this will only display the changes made on the type of content you have selected. For example if you only select "Masterpages" you will only see changes made into masterpages.
